BA in International Politics

Rapid changes in domestic and global politics have an almost daily impact on our lives, from traditional party politics to new forms of direct action in global settings. The BA (Hons) in International Politics responds to the growing demand to train young professionals for decision-making careers in government, international organisations, diplomatic services and private sector, peacekeeping and security, journalism, marketing, teaching and broadcasting, further study and much more.

Who is this course for?

This course is open to anyone who is interested in learning about a range of political theories and practices from a variety of global perspectives while thinking critically and understanding change. At the end of our BA (Hons) in International Politics, you will be aware of political systems and interactions of states in the global interstate system, the distribution of wealth, power and control in the world as a single system, the role of non-governmental actors in world affairs, and how we can solve conflict or achieve cooperation.
